

Most Innovative Recruitment Agency 2023 - Midlands

With 25 years of experience in the recruitment industry, Kate Gerald founded K.A.G. Recruitment Consultancy in 2017. It covers a variety of roles from entry level/graduate scheme to director positions within the engineering, manufacturing, IT, and logistics sectors. We take a closer look to find out more as it is recognised in the UK Enterprise Awards 2023.

When running a business, it can often feel like there aren't enough hours in the day to get everything done. With an already packed schedule, looking for new talent to join your team can be a challenge. As you are faced with many job applications it can quickly become something that requires time that you may not have. However, with K.A.G., you don't need to worry about conquering this alone.

K.A.G.'s services include recruitment training, graduate assessment centres, retention and after care, as well as strategic advice for HR and leadership teams. As a company that operates remotely, and outside of the 9-5 business model, it is flexible to its clients' needs. K.A.G. works to become a full extension of your business and focuses on your long-term goals.

Given that the growth of any company is affected by the people behind it, new additions to a team must add value and help push towards the success that the company is aiming to achieve. K.A.G. is a company that you can trust to significantly elevate your business and it follows a set of values in order to do so. These are knowledge, passion, integrity, trust, and endurance.

The team at K.A.G. is enthusiastic about what it does and together they strive to preserve a practical, straight-talking style of communication with clients and candidates. When connecting a company to an individual, the team ensures that their vision and aspirations align with one another. This has resulted in K.A.G. succeeding in the recruitment process time and time again. Kate shares, "We work hard to ensure that we meet exceed the expectations of our clients and candidates."

K.A.G. has built a company that reflects individualism and great commitment to delivering high quality services to all its clients. Now holding the title of Most Innovative Recruitment Agency 2023 – Midlands, K.A.G. has earned recognition for its dedicated services.

The testimonials truly demonstrate how devoted the team is. A client enthused, "I have worked with many recruiters over the years both as a hiring manager and occasionally as a candidate. The team at K.A.G. are a step above what most people would think of as a recruiter. Their professional, knowledgeable, and caring approach puts them in the category of Professional Friend. They were supportive throughout a long notice period and were spot on in terms of how and when to be in touch. Thank you."

If you are a company looking for help with the recruitment process of your business, or an individual in the search for the perfect job, K.A.G. is the place for you. Head over to its website to find out more!
